High Speed Motion Control JET ONE is a lightweight and high-speed robot device, able to move a camera with the speed of up to 6 metres per second.

JET ONE has seven bending axes that allow to build up different camera motion paths. The full arm length makes up 3.4 metres. The robot is equipped with basic types of camera fixing and can be used with such cameras as Alexa, Red, Phantom, Sony etc.

The software is developed in such a way that focus control can be performed manually, i.e. much more precisely. Its compact dimensions open the potential for shooting at locations of any complexity.

A product photograph of three bottles of Ketten Brug beer. The bottles are arranged side-by-side on a dark, textured surface. Each bottle is wrapped in a different color of crinkled foil: silver for the leftmost bottle, blue for the middle one, and gold for the rightmost one. The labels are circular and feature the brand name 'ketten Brug' in a stylized font, with 'PREMIUM BEER' at the top and the specific variety ('BRUNE', 'BLANCHE', or 'BLONDE') at the bottom. A decorative chain-link pattern is visible on the foil and labels. In front of the bottles are three items: two blocks of orange cheese on the left, a slice of orange in the center, and a dark, round object (possibly a chocolate or a piece of fruit) on the right. The background is a dark, mottled brown.
